

Service-minded Women Advancing Peace in the Home and World During Unprecedented Times

Women have been through a shared experience over the last year that has underscored the central role of service-minded women and families as the cornerstone of peace and sustainable development. The Women's Leadership Track was an opportunity to reaffirm our commitment to each other and the dream of a world that recognizes and upholds the innate value of every individual, woman and family. With courage and compassion we can advance peace at home and the world.

Plenary Session

The Plenary convened women leaders of Global Peace Women to reflect on the role of service-minded women during unprecedented times and how our efforts can spark positive transformation.
